That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, over-work, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as Brown's Iron Bitters, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

> Wm. P. Marshall, of Logansport, Indiana, writes: "My wife has for many years been troubled from pain in her back and general debility incident to her sex. She has taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and I can truthfully say that she has been so much benefited that she pronounces it the only remedy of many medi-cines she has tried."

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's Iron Bir-TERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

A. M. GULMOR Muskrats and Aristocrats

The recent engagement of a son of Jay Gould to a daughter of one of the Astors has caused a new outbreak, the aristocracy which has "blood" to back it claiming that the girl is lower-ing herself by marrying a man whose money has been made in speculation, and who has not always been rich. The Astors are considered the leaders of blooded aristocracy, and the Goulds are considered as leaders of shoddy, whose money has not been handed down. The Sun has tried to fathom this mystery of blood, but its editor is not cut out for solving such problems. To a common, ordinary nine-spot, it looks queer to see the descendants of a man who traded in bad-smelling, raw furs, by which the money was accumulated, putting on style over a young fellow whose money was made in buying and selling nice, clean, sweet-smelling railroad stocks. If you look back to the time Jay Gould, the father of the coming bridegroom, was working in a tannery, or peddling tinware, you find an Astor, a blue-blooded Astor, spearing muskrats through a hole in the ice, skinning the game speared, and selling the pelt to make a seal skin bad-smelling, raw furs, by which the selling the pelt to make a seal skin cloak. If you are ashamed of Gould as a surveyor, how do you feel about an Astor going about in a canoe, through marshes, taking dead muskrats and minks, from steel-traps set the night before, and baited with liver? This girl who feels that she is lowering herself by marry ing a man who made money by build-ing and buying and wrecking rail-roads, would probably blush to see a picture of one of her ancestors, dressed in a buckskin shirt and pants packing green hides from Green Bay packing green hides from Green Bay to Milwankee, and trading them for whisky and salt pork, two rations of whisky to one of pork. By investing skins in real estate on Manhattan island the Astors got their wealth, but where did they get the "blood" we read about? The same blood is landed at Castle Garden every day from emigrant ships. All the emigrant of to-day has to do is to take his short-waisted coat and high water pants away out west and catch rats. panis away out west and catch rats, and make a fortune, and he can go back to New York and put on style over the star-spangled American citizen, with as much gall as the Astors do now over the Goulds. The Sun holds that young Gould, an Ameri-can citizen, lowers himself by an alli-ance with the descendant of a foreign rat trapper, and the "society" that holds the family of the foreign musk-rat skin dealer above the family of a man who commenced with nothing and made a colossal fortune by the expenditure of brain power, is a sham
